LOT 38 - Sierra Tower Fan with Remote Control - Black Model

Description

Sierra oscillating tower fan featuring sleek modern design in a matte black finish with convenient remote control functionality. This contemporary cooling solution combines efficient air circulation with space-saving vertical design, making it an ideal choice for both home and office environments. The slim profile allows for placement in corners or narrow spaces while still providing powerful airflow coverage.

The unit includes multiple speed settings and operating modes accessible via the integrated control panel or the included remote control for convenient operation from across the room. The oscillation feature ensures wide area coverage, while the vertical tower design maximizes cooling efficiency without the footprint of traditional pedestal fans. This model represents Sierra's commitment to combining functionality with contemporary aesthetic appeal.

Condition notes: Item shows slight signs of previous use consistent with minimal household operation. The remote control included and intact. Fan housing displays minimal wear with no significant cosmetic damage noted. Refer to the pictures and in-person inspection for condition.
