LOT 72 - Vintage Christmas Penguin Igloo Blow Mold

Description

Molded plastic holiday decoration featuring a cheerful penguin character nestled within an igloo structure. Manufactured using traditional blow mold technique. Circa 1980s-1990s.

This festive blow mold showcases a whimsical design with a happy penguin wearing a red Santa hat and matching textured scarf. The character features classic black and white coloring with bright orange feet, stylized black flippers, and a distinctive orange beak. The penguin is set against a molded white igloo structure with architectural panel detailing that creates the impression of ice blocks.

The piece includes original electrical cord for illumination with standard light socket assembly in the interior cavity accessed through a yellow mounting plate on the back. Construction demonstrates the characteristic blow mold manufacturing process with visible seam lines along the sides and uniform plastic wall thickness throughout.

Surface shows excellent original paint with minimal wear. The piece displays only light scuffing consistent with seasonal display and storage. No cracks, splits or structural damage observed. Electrical components appear intact and functional with original plug and cord still attached.
