LOT 23A - Circa 1900s Square Brand General Store Wrapping Stand

Description

Solid oak slats paired with cast iron framework form this practical early 20th century general store wrapping stand by Square Brand. The industrial cast iron frame features decorative textured uprights with "SQUARE BRAND" prominently embossed. The functional two-tier design includes the original hardware with the upper shelf designed to hold wrapping twine and the lower shelf configured to accommodate a paper roll for wrapping merchandise.

This commercial apparatus was specifically designed for general store counter use, allowing shopkeepers to efficiently wrap meats and other provisions for customers. The specialized cast iron construction features thoughtful design elements including the curved twine holder with tension control and a sturdy platform for the paper dispenser on the second tier. The durable construction ensured longevity in busy retail environments.

Condition Notes:

Minor surface rust on iron components consistent with age. Wood surfaces show expected wear and patina with some finish loss. All mechanical components appear intact though not verified. Original hardware and mounting screws present. Refer to the pictures and in person inspection for condition.
