

Sale Name: 14th Annual Montana Spring Auction

LOT 22A - Taxidermy Northern Pike Specimen

Description

Professionally preserved Northern Pike taxidermy mount displaying the complete specimen with characteristic elongated body and distinctive predatory features. This vintage fish mount showcases excellent craftsmanship with detailed fin work and natural coloration, mounted on a wooden display board for wall hanging. The specimen exhibits the typical olive-gold coloration with lighter cream underside and distinctive dark markings around the head region characteristic of the species.

The mount features well-preserved anatomical details including intact fins, natural eye glass, and carefully reconstructed mouth cavity with visible teeth rows. Professionally crafted with attention to realistic presentation, the specimen maintains good form and proportional accuracy. This vintage piece would appeal to collectors of natural history specimens, fishing enthusiasts, or as distinctive wall decor for rustic or lodge-style interiors.

Condition Notes: Visible hairline crack along underside, some minor discoloration consistent with age. Minimal fin wear showing slight separation at edges. Wooden mounting board intact with original hanging hardware. Glass eye and mouth cavity in good condition. Refer to the pictures and in person inspection for condition.
